PRESEASON PICKED 9TH

Morgan State was picked to finish ninth (9th) to MEAC defending champion and Preseason #1 N.C. A&T and #2 Howard.

PRESEASON ALL-MEAC PLAYERS
Seven (7) Morgan State football players were named to the 2018 MEAC preseason team, which was voted on by the conference head coaches and sports information directors. Senior defensive lineman Malachi Washington and junior linebacker Rico Kennedy were first-team selections. Senior offensive linemen Joshua Miles and Matthew Thompson were third-team picks, along with junior wideout Manasseh Bailey, junior linebacker Ian McBurnough, and senior defensive back Carl Garnes. The seven preseason All-MEAC performers are part of a group of 37 lettermen and 16 starters returning for the 2018 season.

BEARS OPEN 120th SEASON OF FOOTBALL SINCE 1898

MSU enters its 120th season of football and will open the 2018 campaign under interim head coach Ernest T. Jones, set to enter his first year at the helm and his third year at Morgan State.

RETURN MEN

The 2018 Morgan State Bears return 37
letterwinners, including 16 starters - 7 on offense, 8 on defense and 1 on special teams.

CAMPAIGNING FOR SUCCESS

The Bears enter the 2018 season looking to post their first winning season since goins 6-5 in 2009. *MSU's 7-6 record in 2018 was picked to finish ninth (9th) to MEAC defending champion and Preseason #1 N.C. A&T and #2 Howard.

NON-CONFERENCE PLAY

The Bears will open the 2018 campaign against four non-conference opponents.
MSU opens the season against Towson
(Sept. 1) in the ‘Battle for Greater Baltimore’, followed by road trips versus Akron (Sept. 9), Univ. at Albany (Sept. 15) and the N.C. A&T (Sept. 22) game will also be recorded as a non-conference contest.

THE QB LINEUP

Right now it appears that all eyes will be on junior DeAndre Harris. The 6-4, 210-pound quarterback from Washington (Ga.) split time with Elijah Staley last year and should take over the duties full-time in '18.

• He saw action in 10 games and started in three (Rutgers, Delaware State and Norfolk State). He completed 62-of-196 passes for 781 yards, with 10 touchdowns and eight interceptions. He completed 58.5 percent of his passes and his ability as a runner can’t be understated either having added 253 yards on 63 carries (4.0 avg) and ran for a pair of TDs.

Harris will be challenged for the starting position by redshirt-freshman Dion “DJ” Golatt Jr. (6-3, 230).

“DJ and DeAndre went back and forth in the spring and they both bring something different to the table. DeAndre is athletic and can run with the football, and he has a big arm. He is a slimmer, faster, quicker basketball-type playing quarterback.”

“On the other hand, DJ has a big arm but he’s also like a running back. He is a big,
fit, thick, tough and physical runner."

The decision as to who starts will go down to the wire.

MORGAN-TOWSON RENEW BATTLE FOR GREATER BALTIMORE
Representatives from Morgan State University and Towson University held a press conference at the Glory Day’s Grill Restaurant to talk about the Second Annual Battle for Greater Baltimore football game.
• Morgan State’s Director of Athletics, Edward Scott and interim head football coach, Ernest T. Jones sat with Towson AD, Tim Leonard and head football coach, Rob Ambrose for the Battle for Greater Baltimore press conference.
• Scott spoke about the importance of the game to both schools.
“First of all I want to give credit to Tim [Leonard]. It was a joint effort. The game itself was going to be played, but we wanted to figure out how we could do something for the city of Baltimore,” said Scott. “When we started last year I think a lot of folks don’t realize that we meet during the year. Our two staffs actually get together. This year they came to us. We spent about two weeks together, had lunch and went through all the details. It’s much different than a normal game.
“Second piece is the community service component. To be able to tie together two initiatives that mean so much to both programs is going to do a great deal for Baltimore, but most importantly, it will show our student-athletes how they’re looked at as role models, and that’s something that Tim and I talked about when we wanted to design this whole Battle for Greater Baltimore from the beginning.”
• “This is a statement game,” said Jones when asked about the impact of the game on recruiting and marketing. “It’s a game where both universities and administrations are saying ‘This is your game’. It’s important that we give a game back to the city, that we give a game back to the community. When you’re talking about recruiting, everybody can’t go to Alabama. Everybody can’t go to Maryland, Virginia and Virginia Tech. But you can go to Towson. You can go to Morgan.
• Due to scheduling conflicts, the teams will not play in 2019. However, they are scheduled to play in 2020 (at Towson) and 2021 (at Morgan State). During the press conference, both ADs noted that they are working out the details of extending the series for the future.

MORGAN- TOWSON RENEW BATTLE FOR GREATER BALTIMORE
Representatives from Morgan State University and Towson University held a press conference at the Glory Day’s Grill Restaurant to talk about the Second Annual Battle for Greater Baltimore football game.
• Morgan State’s Director of Athletics, Edward Scott and interim head football coach, Ernest T. Jones sat with Towson AD, Tim Leonard and head football coach, Rob Ambrose for the Battle for Greater Baltimore press conference.
• Scott spoke about the importance of the game to both schools.
“First of all I want to give credit to Tim [Leonard]. It was a joint effort. The game itself was going to be played, but we wanted to figure out how we could do something for the city of Baltimore,” said Scott. “When we started last year I think a lot of folks don’t realize that we meet during the year. Our two staffs actually get together. This year they came to us. We spent about two weeks together, had lunch and went through all the details. It’s much different than a normal game.
“Second piece is the community service component. To be able to tie together two initiatives that mean so much to both programs is going to do a great deal for Baltimore, but most importantly, it will show our student-athletes how they’re looked at as role models, and that’s something that Tim and I talked about when we wanted to design this whole Battle for Greater Baltimore from the beginning.”
• “This is a statement game,” said Jones when asked about the impact of the game on recruiting and marketing. “It’s a game where both universities and administrations are saying ‘This is your game’. It’s important that we give a game back to the city, that we give a game back to the community. When you’re talking about recruiting, everybody can’t go to Alabama. Everybody can’t go to Maryland, Virginia and Virginia Tech. But you can go to Towson. You can go to Morgan.
